

One Great Community Salutes

Chamber Champion – Becky Jewison

Reid Foundation

Nominated by Brett Guiley

“They will sing praises” is how Brett Guiley stated that anyone, adult or child would respond to his or her involvement with Becky Jewison. She enjoys sharing her excitement and passion for what she does with others. There are many ways that she shows her enthusiasm for this community with the lives of those she touches. Her family, church, co-workers and anyone she has worked with involving theater can feel the passion she has for what she does and how much she cares for the others involved with any project as much as the project itself.

Much of Becky’s life has been spent in the theater. She grew up in a family that was involved and she has been involved in her adult life as well. Her dedication went beyond simply participating when she “single handedly revitalized youth theater in Wayne County” says Brett, “with Stage One.” Becky worked with and led that program for many years. She stepped down from the Director position at Stage One in 2007 only to take on the Richmond High School drama department. Becky loves the theater and children so the combination of the two for her is a passion. She has been very successful at leading many youth in to the theater and sharing her love for it with them and many of those children have carried that passion on in to their lives.

Becky currently works with the Reid Foundation at Reid Hospital & Health Care Services and enjoys her contributions there very much. Becky goes at her job with much of the same passion she has for the theater. Generally speaking she takes ownership for whatever it is that she is doing and how important it is for her community. Becky is another example of how a true Chamber Champion for our Community has taken her personal interests and turned them into substantial giving.

As a community we reap the rewards from such passionate individuals and their generosity to be such Ambassadors with their lives. Thank you Becky and congratulations on being the next Chamber Champion with the One Great Community Salutes program!
